- We organize the diving in small groups with max. 6 divers per guide, if possible less
- Max. depth 30m, no deco dives, dive computer is mandatory

- In our small remote diving paradise, you find a large variety from small critters, (pygmy seahorses, nudibranchs, orangutan crabs, leaf fish, etc) to larger marine life (sharks - white tips/grey reef/leopard/occasional hammerheads, feather tail and eagle rays, barracudas, jack fish, bumphead parrotfish, and many turtles).

9. WHERE WILL I DIVE?

- Nabucco is located in the middle of the coral triangle where the largest marine diversity and one of the biggest turtle populations worldwide is found. Due to the remote location there are almost no other dive boats around. The dive sites around the Maratua atoll are remarkable for their intact hard and soft corals, steep and sloping walls as well as the channel, and of course marine life! We will make sure to provide a nice mix of dive sites for you!

- 5 minutes from Nabucco is the famous dive site Big Fish Country. This dive site is a current dive which can only be done with incoming tide and an AOW certification with at least around 50 dives and the necessary experience is obligatory for this dive. Here various types of sharks (grey, white tip, black tip reef sharks), eagle rays and sometimes hammerhead, tunas, jacks and the resident huge school of barracudas can be seen regularly. Big Fish Country is a dive site which is best done a few times as every time is impressive in a different way.
- The tides and the moon affect this area quite a bit, so even the same dive site can be very different when it comes to animals during low tide or high tide, little or stronger current.
- Another highlight is Sangalaki, with a beautiful coral garden, lots of fish and high chance to encounter manta rays nearly the whole year around
- A trip to Kakaban Island with its amazing colourful drop offs and the unique stingless jellyfish lake (at the jelly fish lake only snorkelling without fins is allowed) is usually combined with Sangalaki
- In addition, double tank dives north and mid Maratua, or a day in South Maratua with lunch on Nunukan Island could be organized
